

Randy Goldenman Who's Who Award 2023

Each year your MTA BOD chooses a person they feel goes above and beyond what an ordinary member does to benefit the sport of trapping and to further the mission of the MTA. In addition to being an accomplished trapper this gentleman does a great job of preserving, promoting, and educating the public of the important role trapping plays in wildlife management. During the legislative session he works tirelessly at the Capitol trying to educate the legislators on the importance of trapping in our state and of the negative impacts that the proposed anti-trapping bills would cause if enacted. He is instrumental in setting up a Trappers Day at the Capitol each year and helps members to set up meetings with their legislators and leads them to the respected offices as well if needed. This man is also our liaison to the MOHA organization. It is with great honor that this years Who's Who Award will be given to Mr. Randy Goldenman.
